When I think about the New Year beginning I start thinking of a New Year's Resolution – you know, one that will make me a better person. I have made all those about eating better, exercising more, and helping people more, but, one that stands out above all is the one about helping animals in some way.

Your subscription to our Newsletter is appreciated and communicates to us that you care about animals and want to help.

Whether it is by adopting an abused dog or cat, or an older animal who needs your love and care, or by helping transport a cat to be spayed or neutered or one who needs emergency care, there are so many options on helping animals.

What an amazing New Year's Resolution for 2019 – a Resolution that will make you a better person! Fostering is a tremendous way of giving some of your extra time to help a cat or kitten who may be fighting for their life or just needing some love and care for a few days or weeks.

There is no Shelter or Rescue for Cats in White County and everyday we are contacted about kittens and cats needing help. Some have been found as strays or abandoned and are struggling to survive while others have been discarded and needing help in finding their new forever home.

Foster homes for these animals are essential so the animals can survive and have a chance for a forever home. The foster may only take in the animals for a few days, but some animals may need more time to heal from their traumatic injuries or help with socialization into a new home. Fosters are critical in offering a caring and loving home for the animal to heal before going to their new home.

We are constantly looking for people who love animals and are willing to foster a kitten or kittens or cats for a few short weeks to help them "get back on their feet". There never seems to be enough fosters, and always too many animals needing help.

The most rewarding aspect of fostering an animals is seeing him or her come into your home struggling to live and watching it respond to your love and care. It is worth every second of time seeing this beautiful animal become healthy and ready to go into his or her new forever home.

If you are interested in becoming a foster for some of our animals, please contact us at friendsofwhitecountyanimals@gmail.com
